MEXICANS ARE MISTREATING AMERICANS

Refugees Tell of Murders, Robberies and Indignities to Women

DATA ON TO WASHINGTON

Stories Show Madero Makes Little Pretense of Protecting Foreigners

GALVESTON, Tex., April 23.—Stories of brigandage rampant, the murdering of Americans, indignities to American women and the boycott of American goods in the state of Vera Cruz, Mex., were related in detail tonight to A. J. Rosenthal, special deputy collector of customs, by a band of refugees who arrived today from Mexico aboard the steamer Texas. The data secured by Rosenthal will be forwarded to Washington.

Madison H. Ish, a former attorney of Omaha, Neb., and at one time quartermaster in the United States army with the rank of captain, acted as leader of the Americans in their flight to the United States. Mr. Ish will go to Fort Crook to offer his services to the army, he said.

The refugees are vigorous in their condemnation of the Madero government, and assert that little pretense is made to protect American lives and interests. Before leaving Salina Cruz the party filed claims aggregating $50,000 against the Mexican government with Lewis W. Haskell, American consul.

Tell of Terrible Treatment.
Mr. Ish told of the murder of an American citizen named Walt.

"Mr. Walt was a neighbor of mine," said Mr. Ish. "He had sold several head of cattle and hidden the money. Desperadoes came to his hacienda and demanded money. Failing to get it they deliberately beheaded him with their machetes, herded his cattle together and drove them off. There are many instances just like this.

"We lived in a little settlement where a colony of American families had founded the town of Sanbury. It was deserted because we were afraid to remain longer, knowing we would be killed or tortured.

"I went to Mexico one year ago, but I had $1,000 in gold and improvements there, and today I have only two hands and the clothes on my back. Before leaving I filed our claims for damages with the American consul in Salina Cruz.

John T. McGee, a wealthy planter who went to Mexico two years ago, returned to America minus more than $20,000 and left behind land and livestock. Mr. McGee tells of alleged injuries on an American woman, a Mrs. Shay, now in the hospital at Salina Cruz.

"What has been true of the Shay family," said Mr. McGee, "has been likewise true of scores of other Americans and by staying there we took our lives into our hands. The bandits are everywhere. The Mexican government is not able to quiet them.

Do Not Believe in Madero.

"Many Americans believe the Madero forces so dislike the Americans that they would rather permit the brigandage than try to stop it. Whenever bandits are near, the bandits disperse and there rarely is a shot fired."

Practically every man on board the Texas had a similar story to tell of experiences in Mexico. Two men who rode horseback into Vera Cruz after abandoning everything they owned left meetings four armed bandits in a narrow pass.

"The only reason we are here," said one of the men, "is because we were brave enough to beat them to it. Everywhere you go except right in the largest cities, you will see deserted farms, houses burned, livestock stolen and in many instances the degrading and headless bodies of their owners are left lying about.

The bandits are in such large numbers and so scattered over the interior that it is impossible to resist them.

LOUISIANA FLOOD CONDITIONS WORSE

DELTA POINT, La., April 23.—From Delta Point, La., opposite Vidalia, only one town, Thomsen, is out of water.

Tonight water stands from 3 to 15 feet deep over thousands of acres of farm lands in northeastern Louisiana.

At Tallulah water is four to six feet deep in every business house.

A conservative estimate would place the number of homeless persons in northeastern Louisiana at 17,000. But in another week twice that number will be forced from their homes. By that time the waters will have begun their return to the Mississippi through the Red river.

CAIRO, Ill., April 22.—After having been above the danger mark for 24 days, the Ohio River got below within a bank tonight when it fell below the 46-foot mark. The water rapidly rising out of the drainage district, which at one time was 7 1/2 inches within a few days.

TAFT PREPARES TO ATTACK T. R.

AND LATTER IS GETTING READY TO ANSWER

MASSACHUSETTS SOCIETY

OYSTER BAY, N. Y., April 23.—On his return to Oyster Bay, today, from his week's tour through the west and south, Colonel Roosevelt began to gather ammunition for his Massachusetts trip, which is looked upon as one of the most important of the campaign.

He said he had seen Washington dispatches indicating that President Taft, in his speeches in Massachusetts, this week, would make some emphatic statements in reply to Colonel Roosevelt's recent criticisms of the Taft administration. The colonel added that the nature of his own speeches depended upon what the president said.

Colonel Roosevelt was told that, according to advices from Washington, the president would read letters written to him by the colonel. As to this, Colonel Roosevelt merely said: "I won't make any statement until the letters come out."

It was announced tonight that Colonel Roosevelt would leave here Friday noon on his tour through Massachusetts, making his first speech Friday night, in Worcester.

Surrounding him will speak at Fall River, and then go to New Bedford, speaking there immediately after his arrival. He will continue on to Boston, where he will deliver a speech in the Arena, Saturday night, remaining in Boston over Sunday.

On Monday he will go to Lawrence, where he will speak at noon. The last speech of his Massachusetts trip is scheduled for Monday night, in Pittsfield.

Taft Prepares to Talk.

WASHINGTON, April 23.—President Taft and several members of his cabinet were in conference at the White house tonight, considering it is understood, the political situation in New England and going over some of the speeches which the president is to deliver on his forthcoming trip, which begins tomorrow.

In some of his speeches at Boston, Worcester and South Framingham of Philadelphia, the president is expected to break the silence he has maintained under public attacks by Colonel Roosevelt, and probably will mention the former president by name.

In the three days he will be on the road the president is expected to make a dozen speeches. Friends declare that some of these will be as hot as any he has delivered since he entered the White house.

Statement from Roosevelt.

NEW YORK, April 23.—Colonel Theodore Roosevelt, in a statement given tonight, dealing with his correspondence with Representative Gardner of Massachusetts, in the matter of the attitude of President Taft toward Senator Lorimer, denies that he charged "that Senator Lorimer had President Taft's assistance and support."

"Mr. Gardner's statement is false," says the colonel.

Colonel Roosevelt further denies Mr. Gardner's accusation that he "suppressed the reports of Herbert Knox Smith, commissioner of corporations, with regard to the Harvester trust."

As to that he ever "made exceptions in instituting proceedings against favorite trusts of mine."

KANSAS SHOWING ROOSEVELT SPIKIT

Taft Failed to Secure Single Delegate in 13 County Sections Yesterday

APPEARED AND WAS VOTED ON CONVENTIONS IN 13 KANSAS COUNTIES TODAY ADDED A TOTAL OF 165 TO THE LIST OF DELEGATES TO THE STATE CONVENTION INSTRUCTED FOR ROOSEVELT. TAFT DID NOT SECURE A SINGLE DELEGATE. COMPLETE RETURNS UP TO DATE, INCLUDING TODAY'S ELECTIONS, GIVE ROOSEVELT A TOTAL OF 398 DELEGATES AND TAFT A TOTAL OF 82.

There will be 894 delegates to sit in the state convention and 450 are necessary to control.

Roosevelt, according to today's returns, has secured a majority of delegates to Fourth, Fifth and Eighth districts conventions.

ST. LOUIS, April 23.—With the arrival of Governor Hadley as leader of the Roosevelt forces, and Congressman Richard Bartholdt as director of the Taft Missouri Republicans, the fight began tonight for control of the Republican state convention Thursday.

Roosevelt followers claim to have enough instructed delegates to control the convention. The Taft men announced that after the state committee decides the contests, they will be supreme.

The 90 delegates from Kansas City and Jackson county who are instructed for Roosevelt, are being contested. Twenty-one of the 28 members of the St. Louis city committee went of record tonight to throw their votes from Taft to Roosevelt if the Kansas City delegation was instructed.

The state convention will elect four delegates-at-large to the national convention.

CEDAR RAPIDS, Ia., April 23.—Victory in tomorrow's Republican state convention was claimed with equal insistence by both the Taft and the Cummins leaders tonight.

So confident are the Taft people of winning that tonight they announced their candidates for delegates-at-large to the national convention.

Senator Cummins arrived from Washington this afternoon.

CHICAGO MAN HEADS PERFECTED NATIONAL CHAMBER COMMERCE

WASHINGTON, April 23.—Harry A. Wheeler of Chicago tonight was elected president of the National Chamber of Commerce of the United States, which had perfected its organization earlier in the day.

The objects of this national association are to afford a "national clearing house" for the development and consideration of business opinion and to secure united action upon questions affecting the commercial interests of the United States.

The views of the new organization provide for methods of disclosing through a system of referendum the commercial opinion of the United States on questions deemed by the directors to be of national importance.

The board of directors was entered into at dinner tonight by Secretary Nagel.

F. E. DOW DIES AT HIS HOME

PIONEER SUCCEUMBS AFTER LONG ILLNESS

Held Many Offices One of Founders Green Mt. Falls

F. E. Dow, for 32 years a resident of Colorado Springs, and a prominent factor in its development, died at his home, 332 North Teton street, yesterday morning at 9:45 o'clock.

Death was caused by apoplexy and hardening of the arteries, and Mr. Dow had been ill at various times during the last 15 months. He suffered a stroke of apoplexy, November 2, 1910, and for 10 weeks his life was despaired of. He rallied and was well.

While the answer of the railroads to the letter of Messrs. Neill and Knapp did not definitely accept mediation, the opinion was expressed by the engineers that in the end this would be the result. Commissioner Neill, in an interview given after he had received the railroads' answer, indicated that he considered that mediation was indicated. Tonight in all quarters the opinion was expressed that the possibility of a strike is remote.

On a series of conferences of beginning business probably will depend either the ultimate settlement of the dispute or the arrangement of a plan of arbitration.

Mr. Neill announced that he would confer with the railroad managers tomorrow morning, and, if possible, would meet the engineers later in the day.

Railways Send Letter.
The decision of the railway managers to confer with Messrs. Knapp and Neill was reached after an all-day conference. The presidents of several railways were in conference today, and it is understood they approved of the letter sent to the government representatives. The letter of the railways follows:

New York, April 23, 1912.
Hon. Martin A. Knapp, Presiding Judge United States Commerce Court.
Mr. Charles P. Neill, United States Commissioner of Labor.

Gentlemen:—Your letter of April 22 has been received, in which you advise that negotiations between the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and the conference committee of managers of the eastern railways have been definitely broken off, and that a grave situation has arisen which threatens most serious consequences to the public in the emergency you are impelled by the sense of duty to tender your friendly offices to the contending parties, in the hope that some means may be found to adjust the matters in dispute without the calamity of a general strike.

Thoroughly appreciating the value of your good offices, and in the hope that some means of reaching a settlement can be devised that will spare the public the grave consequences that might follow the severance of relations, we will be glad to meet you in conference. (Signed) THE CONFERENCE COMMITTEE OF MANAGERS.

By J. C. STUART, Chairman.

Plan of Procedure.
On receipt of this letter, Mr. Neill said he would confer with the railway managers while Judge Knapp would confer with the engineers. They will meet later to compare notes. In this way, he pointed out, the contentions of each side will be protected by reciprocity from the other, while giving

LAKE COUNTY FOR CLARK

LEADVILLE, Colo., April 23.—Lake county's 20 delegates at the county convention held here tonight, were instructed to vote as a unit for Champ Clark at the state convention. A preferential vote taken by the county delegates, gave Clark 17 and Wilson 3 votes.

He was drafted on General Street.

VALUABLE LANDS IN STATES AFFECTED

Coal Holdings of Fuel Companies, Worth $1,755,750, Conveyed Back to U. S.

NEW YORK, April 23.—A compromise effected between United States District Attorney Harry E. Kelly for the federal land office and Joel P. Valle, general counsel for the Denver & Rio Grande railroad, 2,450 acres of coal lands in Colorado of a market value of $1,755,750 held by the United Fuel and the Columbia Fuel companies, subsidiaries of the railway system, have been conveyed back to the United States government and will be thrown open to public sale.

The lands are situated in Huerfano, Garfield and La Plata counties and comprise some of the best bituminous coal deposits in the west. Eventually, when mined on prevailing royalties of from eight to 15 cents a ton the values will aggregate many millions.

The largest tract is in La Plata county and embraces 3,385 acres of patented and 600 acres of patented lands. Close to the city of Pueblo is a tract 600 acres and the remaining 1,840 acres in Garfield.

The best mined abroad is the most valuable, there being eight veins outcropping at a total thickness of 70 feet.

Allegations of fraud, through dummy attorneys, were given corroborative evidence by Special Agents Ralph S. Kelly, H. H. Manahan, Eugene Lacey, and James H. Anderson, working under direction of M. D. McHenry, chief of the special land division with offices in Denver and the work has been in progress for over two years.

At one time Robert Forrest of the geological survey and other officers were under indictment charged with illegal entries, but acquittal of some of the accused resulted in dismissal of the remaining charges after Forester's death. Money paid the government for the lands, totaling $100,000 are forfeited by the compromise.

The only point conceded the corporations was that suits for the recovery of coal mined from the claims on which the alleged fraudulent entries were beyond the statute of limitations will be discontinued.

REPUBLICAN CONVENTION PROGRAM FAKE TO LIGHT

Reports of Subcommittees Reserves Solicitors in Various Cities

INDIANAPOLIS, April 23.—Harry S. New, chairman of the subcommittee on arrangements for the Republican national convention, today issued a warning to persons who may be approached by solicitors offering to publish portraits and appropriate reading matter in a so-called official convention program.

Mr. New said reports concerning the solicitors have come from several states. He said the committee has not authorized the publication of a program of any kind.

CONFERENCE ON STRIKE PLANNED

RAILWAYS DO NOT AGREE TO MEDIATION

Will Meet Office of Engineering Through Government, but May Reject Them

NEW YORK, April 23.—Mediation of the differences between the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and the eastern railways, which have threatened a strike on 60 lines east of Chicago and north of the Potomac, is expected to result from the action of the conference committee on railway managers today in agreeing to confer with Charles P. Neill, United States labor commissioner, and Martin J. Knapp, judge of the United States commerce court.

While the answer of the railroads to the letter of Messrs. Neill and Knapp did not definitely accept mediation, the opinion was expressed by the engineers that in the end this would be the result. Commissioner Neill, in an interview given after he had received the railroads' answer, indicated that he considered that mediation was indicated. ## NO BINOCULARS FOR TITANIC LOOKOUTS

Man Who First Saw Ice Could Have Averted Disaster if Properly Equipped

Some of People in Boat Refuse Helping Hand to Victims in Water

WASHINGTON, April 22.—The failure to provide binoculars or apparatus for the lookouts on the Titanic was one contributing cause of that ship's loss and, with it, the loss of more than 1,600 lives.

Two witnesses before the senate investigating committee today agreed on this. They were Frederick Fleet, a lookout on the liner, and Mod. Arthur Godfrey Peuchen, Canadian manufacturer and yachtsman, who was among the rescued passengers.

Fleet acknowledged that if he had been aided, in his observations by a good glass probably, he could have spied the berg into which the ship crashed in time to have warned the bridge to avoid it. Major Peuchen also testified to the much greater sweep of vision afforded by binoculars, and as a yachtsman, said he believed the presence of the iceberg might have been detected in time to escape the collision had the lookout men been so equipped.

It was made to appear that the blame for being without glasses did not rest with the lookout men. Fleet said they had asked for the glasses at Southampton and were told there were none for them. One glass, in a pinch, would have served in the crow's nest.

No Drills Were Held.
Major Peuchen criticized in strong terms the lack of experienced sailors on board the Titanic. He said that when the call to quarters was sounded not enough of the crew responded to undertake the work required in lowering and filling the boats.

Furthermore, he said, no drills had been held from the time the ship left Southampton, although it was customary to hold such drills every Sunday.

Herbert J. Pitman, third officer of the Titanic, told of his failure to turn back the lifeboat in which he and his passengers were idly drifting, to attempt the rescue of others when the Titanic went down.

Shuddering at the recollection, he said the cries for help made "one long, continuous moan."

The passengers insisted that to go back to aid would mean their destruction, he said, so that after starting in the direction of the cries, he rescinded his orders and waited for the dawn. Twice he begged to be spared a recital of the facts, but Senator Smith pressed him.

Photographers Are Excluded.
The impertinence and activities of a squad of photographers today so aroused Senator Smith that he indignantly ordered them all excluded from the chamber.

This inquiry is official and solemn, he said in explanation, "and there shall be no hippodroming or commercializing of it. I will not permit it."

SOLID FOR CLARK; ADAMS OR STRICKLER CHAIRMAN

The election of 41 delegates to the Democratic state convention will meet in Temple Theater at 8 o'clock tomorrow at 10 o'clock, will be the principal business of the county convention in the court house this afternoon at 2 o'clock.

The Clark people have a large majority in the convention, and a solid Clark delegation is a foregone conclusion. It is again understood that every effort will be put forth to instruct the delegation to support Mrs. Anna Pitzer, sister-in-law of Champ Clark, as a national delegate.

The Wilson men, seeing that the outcome is no show here, will aid the delegation to be instructed for Clark and for progressive measures, according to H. H. Seligman, president of the Wilson Wilson club of the city.

Adams or Strickler.
It is probable that either Andy Adams or D. P. Strickler will be elected chairman of the convention. Andy Adams will receive the support of Clark and as many of the progressive members as the other hand is supported by the "reactionary" faction among the Clark men.

For national committeemen, the progressives favor Charles W. Franklin, Denver, and the reactionaries want Thomas J. McCue, a machine man. Mrs. Adams of Pueblo is now national committeewoman, but will not run again, it is understood.

It is thought that the state convention will favor Clark, but nothing definite can be learned as to the speaker, some saying it is for Harney and others say Clark. However, the expectation is that Colorado will send a solid Clark delegation of 12 members to the national convention in Baltimore, June 24.

J. BRUCE ISMAY TESTIFYING BEFORE SENATORIAL INVESTIGATING COMMITTEE. The photograph shows the managing director of the White Star line, sitting at the head of the table, his hands resting in front of him, as he testified before the special committee of United States senators who traveled from Washington to New York and began a careful investigation of the Titanic disaster the morning after the Carpathia arrived in New York with the only living survivors. During the course of the proceedings, Ismay was openly denounced by Senator Rayner of Maryland, who asserted that "Ismay had risked the lives of all the passengers on board to make a speedy passage." Mr. Ismay later issued a statement to the effect that the charges were unjust and untrue.

NO BINOCULARS FOR TITANIC LOOKOUTS

Man Who First Saw Ice Could Have Averted Disaster if Properly Equipped

Some of People in Boats Refuse Helping Hand to Victims in Water

WASHINGTON, April 23.—The failure to provide binoculars or spyglasses for the lookouts on the Titanic was one contributing cause of that ship's loss and, with it, the loss of more than 1,500 lives.

Two witnesses before the senate investigating committee today agreed on this. They were Frederick Fleet, a lookout on the liner, and Major Arthur Godfrey Peuchen, Canadian manufacturer and aviator, who was among the rescued passengers.

Fleet acknowledged that if he had been aided by binoculars he probably would have spotted the iceberg into which the ship crashed in time to stop her forward progress. He said that he had asked for binoculars, but they were not given to him.

Major Peuchen also testified to the much greater sweep of vision afforded by binoculars, and as a yachtsman, said he believed the presence of the lookouts might have been detected in time to escape the collision had the lookouts been properly equipped.

It was made to appear that the Titanic, for being without glasses did not rest with the lookout men. Fleet said they had asked for the glasses at Southampton and were told there were none for them. One glass, in a pinch, would have served in the crow's nest.

No Drills Were Held.

Major Peuchen criticized in strong terms the lack of experienced sailors on board the Titanic. He said that when the call to quarters was sounded not enough of the crew responded to undertake the work required in lowering and filling the boats.

Furthermore, he said, no drills had been held from the time the ship left Southampton, although it was customary to hold such drills every Sunday.

Herbert J. Pitzer, third officer of the Titanic, told of his failure to turn back the iceberg in which he and his passengers were left drifting, to attempt the rescue of others when the Titanic went down.

Shuddering at the recollection, he said the cries for help made "one long, continuous moan."

The passengers insisted that to go back to aid would mean their destruction. He said, so that after starting in the direction of the cries he rescinded his orders and waited for the dawn. Twelve he begged to be spared a recital of the facts, but Senator Smith pressed him.

Photographers Are Excluded.

The inopportunities and activities of a squad of photographers today aroused Senator Smith, who for several hours ordered them excluded from the chamber.

"This inquiry is official and solemn," he said in explanation, "and there will be no hippodroming or commercialism of it. I will not permit it."

SOLID FOR CLARK; ADAMS OR STRICKLER CHAIRMAN

The election of 41 delegates to the Democratic state convention at Denver, which will be held at the Colorado hotel, April 25, is expected to result in a solid vote for Clark.

The delegates have a large number of choices, but it is expected that Clark will be elected. The delegates have a large number of choices, but it is expected that Clark will be elected.

Adams or Strickler.

It is thought that the state convention will favor Clark, but nothing definite can be learned as to the chances of Adams or Strickler. However, the convention is expected to send Clark delegation of 12 members to the national convention in Baltimore, June 25.

J. BRUCE ISMAY TESTIFYING BEFORE SENATORIAL INVESTIGATING COMMITTEE.

The photograph shows the managing director of the White Star line, sitting at the head of the table, his hands resting in front of him, as he testified before the special committee of United States senators who traveled from Washington to New York, after the Titanic disaster the morning after the catastrophe, arrived in New York with the only living survivors. During the course of the proceedings, Ismay was openly denounced by Senator Rayner of Maryland, who asserted that "Ismay had risked the lives of all the passengers on board to make a speedy passage." Mr. Ismay later issued a statement to the effect that the charges were unjust and untrue.

PRESNT ARGUMENTS

As Result House Members of General Assembly Are in Maze of Statistics

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., April 24.—The Illinois House of Representatives today was in a maze of statistics, the result of the House members' attempt to adjust the rates of the Woodmen of the World insurance company.

With the aid of the committee on insurance, the House members were attempting to adjust the rates of the Woodmen of the World insurance company. The committee on insurance had been working on the matter for some time, and the House members were now attempting to adjust the rates of the company.

On the other hand, the advocates of the adjustment scheme predicted nothing but disaster unless the change was made. National Director S. S. Stanger of Minier, Ill., fixed the life of the order at eight years unless the new rates were adopted.

Ex-Head Consul Northeast of Springfield went when he told of his life work of making the Woodmen a successful financial insurance order, and then finding the membership guilty of the essence of anarchy in opposing the rate changes ordered by constituted authority.

Judge M. H. Cleary of Galena corroborated a statement made by ex-Assistant Attorney General Smith of Springfield that the Chicago convention of Woodmen, responsible for the increased rates, had for its delegation men who had drawn $142,000 from the organization treasury in salaries.

He served as city clerk and treasurer in 1877 and 1878 and was elected for a third term but refused to serve. However, he served as treasurer in 1879. In 1886 he was elected mayor serving two years. During this time he was also president of the board of trade of Colorado Springs.

For a time he was a director of the Exchange National bank. He also was chairman for three months, before the present city charter went into effect in 1909.

Mr. Dow was engaged in the clothing business here on South Tejon street, from 1877 to 1888 after which he entered the real estate and mining business. CONCORD, N. H., April 23.—Victory in the Republican presidential primaries in New Hampshire practically was conceded to Taft tonight by Roosevelt leaders, including Gov. Robert P. Bass. Returns received at the Roosevelt headquarters from 292 of the 296 cities and towns gave Taft 380 delegates and Roosevelt 234, out of a total of 611 in the state convention.

The Roosevelt supporters conceded the first district to Taft but claimed a fighting chance in the second district, although admitting incomplete returns showed a Taft lead there.

DECORATIVE STREET LIGHTS

NOW that the property owners on two of the most important blocks in the business section have signed an agreement to install ornamental iron poles for street lighting, the success of this entire project is all but assured. By this we mean that the plan will be extended to include the entire business district on Tejon Street and Pike's Peak Avenue, and perhaps portions of the cross streets.

Nothing else could add so much to the attractiveness of the business portion of Colorado Springs. There is no disregarding the important fact that people, like moths, are attracted by bright lights. Watch the street crowd at night in any city and see whether it frequents the brilliantly lighted thoroughfare or the one which, however attractive it may be otherwise, is poorly lighted. The answer explains the necessity of the proposed improvement in this city, and fully justifies the cost.

No sound argument can be made against this plan, not even the argument of high cost. The life of a wooden pole is short; within six or seven years at most it must be replaced, but an iron pole is indestructible. Once put in place it requires no other attention than an occasional coat of paint, and will be as serviceable a century hence as when first used. Therefore it is vastly more economical from the standpoint of cost alone.

But the really important consideration is not that of cost, but of appearance. A vista of wooden poles on every street is the quintessence of civic ugliness. However frequently they may be painted, they always look ragged and unsightly. They convey an impression of cheapness—a cheap town and a cheap people, too cheap to provide anything better than a makeshift. Moreover, the wooden poles support a system of street lighting which is now antiquated insofar as the needs of the business section of a community are concerned. In every progressive city in America and abroad, both big and little, the arc lamp suspended over the middle of the street from wooden poles on the curb has been replaced by incandescent lamps arranged in clusters on iron poles of decorative design placed at intervals of from 80 to 100 feet along the curb.

Let us not forget that Colorado Springs is a resort city, dependent for its prosperity on the patronage and good will of visitors. It must make a good appearance; it must wear its Sunday clothes every day in the week. If any property owner in the business district really believes that the money required for this plan of street lighting would be ill-spent, let him consider this important fact, and his conversion will be both certain and immediate. And above all let us make sure that the plan is generally adopted early enough to have the poles installed in connection with the work of street paving.

A PROPHET WITHOUT HONOR

MR. SAMUEL G. BLYTHE writes political comment and reviews for The Saturday Evening Post, and usually he writes with extraordinary sagacity and discernment. His viewpoint is essentially that of the Progressive, but a few months ago he became tremendously impressed with the power of Federal patronage as a means of securing the renomination of a President. He frankly announced his disgust with the failure of the Taft administration and with the seeming strength of the Taft candidacy, but he saw the campaign of T. R. as through a glass darkly. To him the Federal machine, presided over by Mr. Hitchcock, was a superinducer of sleep to any and every Presidential boom antagonistic to Mr. Taft. In the current number of the periodical for which he writes Mr. Blythe enters the realm of prophecy, and with disastrous results. Listen to this:

"There have been claims that if there could be presidential preference primaries in all the states Mr. Roosevelt would be largely the choice of the Republicans for President. Without discounting the popularity of Mr. Roosevelt, that statement, which is not susceptible of proof at this time, carries no particular weight, for there are as good reasons for doubting it, perhaps better, as there are for believing it. It is the opinion of competent political observers that Mr. Roosevelt would receive a rude shock if he could so before preferential primaries in all states, and North Dakota has proved it as this is written and other states are likely to prove it before the year is past."

It is easy to make political predictions but it is hard to make them come true and vastly harder when they are printed in a periodical issued two or three weeks after they are written. Colonel Roosevelt went against the preferential primaries, and a "rude shock" was the result. But neither he nor his friends and supporters experienced it. It was felt only by his opponents, and we may well believe that they were not merely shocked but severely jolted.

FAILURE OF MANY PREDICTIONS.

No clear-thinking observer of political events can say that the North Dakota primaries were either favorable to Taft or unfavorable to Roosevelt, except in relative degree. On the whole we think that Mr. Roosevelt got decidedly the best of it. The plurality vote cast for La Follette was a pronouncement for the Progressive cause, and the fact that Taft got the lowest vote of any candidate a vote so insignificant that the press dispatches, in describing the primaries, said that the President "was scarcely considered," shows that the people were overwhelmingly against the administration and the reactionary principles for which it stands. Regarding the fight as a contest between Progressivism and Standpattism, it was a significant triumph for the ideas represented by Roosevelt, and a crushing rebuke to Taft.

Mr. Blythe can find consolation, perhaps, in the reflection that at least he is no worse a prophet than scores of noted political leaders whose judgment is usually considered to be weighty. With a few exceptions most of the Republicans' bigwigs pinned their faith to Taft. Now they are tremendously alarmed, and it is a safe guess that before the Republican National convention has adjourned two months hence they will be lamenting in sackcloth and ashes. For every day the chances of Mr. Taft's nomination become smaller.

THE PRESS ON PENNSYLVANIA

Eliminates Taft.
From the Philadelphia North American.
The result of Saturday's primary election in Pennsylvania eliminates President Taft as a candidate for reelection worthy of serious consideration. Whatever course those who control his actions may see fit to take to assume the nomination of his party, the outcome will be the same. He will not be a candidate before the Republican national convention. For it is impossible to believe that there is either fully or studiously enough in his blind support to force the party which honored Mr. Taft so highly four years ago to emphasize in open convention its complete repudiation of him and his administration.

Taft's Combination Tottering.
From the Baltimore Sun.
With both United States senators and the whole state organization against him, Roosevelt has swept Pennsylvania. Under the circumstances the result is more significant than his overwhelming victory in Illinois, for Illinois is always a fighting ground, while Pennsylvania is the most rock-ribbed of Republican states. There is no question about the disastrous defeat of Taft. The result in Pennsylvania and Illinois is a warning to bosses in Maryland, as well as in other states, who attempt to override the popular will. The voters are striking over the heads of candidates at the bosses.

The Handwriting is on the Wall.
From the Chicago Tribune.
When the Republican party is able to break from restraint in a state so bound as Pennsylvania, it means that the Republican party again is determined to be a party of the people, pledged to government for and by the people, and that the Penroses, the Lorimers, the Stephensons, the Smoots, the Joneses, and their like are to be cast aside.
The writing is on the wall. The Bourbons may not be able to understand it until the roof falls in on them.

Nothing could be a plainer indication of the temper of the people than Theodore Roosevelt's victory in Pennsylvania. That state was supposed to be the stronghold of Bourbonism, not because the people liked it but because they could not get their hands loose to strike at it.
Under the Roosevelt leadership they were encouraged to make another effort to free themselves, and they have responded. Bourbonism has been beaten on its own chosen battlefield.
The handwriting is on the wall.

A Body Blow to Taft's Machine.
From the St. Louis Post-Dispatch.
The result of the Pennsylvania Republican primaries is a body blow to Mr. Taft's campaign and to the old standard party machine. It is admitted by his opponents that Colonel Roosevelt did not have an effective organization and the vote represented an overwhelming sentiment among the Republican voters.

But 'Notable Successes.' Nevertheless.
From the New York Sun.
Such notable successes as were won last week for the third term candidate and pledge breaker by his political machine in the states, while leaving President Taft still far in the lead for the nomination, indicate the existence of conditions, political or psychological as we may choose to regard them, as menacing in their way as is the attitude of the ambitious politician who is now carrying around the firebrand.

Bad Company Injured Taft.
From the New York Tribune.

The result of Pennsylvania's primary undoubtedly took the country by surprise, the extent of the popular revolt against the Republican machine having been even less fully appreciated than was the spread of dissatisfaction with the system which Lorimer represented in Illinois. It is again to be deeply regretted that President Taft should have suffered from an undisciplined eagerness to vent a grog against a dominating and misrepresentative state organization.

The People With Roosevelt.
From the Chicago Record-Herald.
The extraordinary results of the Pennsylvania primaries emphasize the fact which the Illinois presidential preference primary so strikingly indicated—the remarkable hold of Mr. Roosevelt on the confidence of Republican voters.
Without the advisory primary this fact might have been suppressed by organizations and machines, by so-called "delegates" who represent or ganized appetite rather than the rank and file. This alone completely justifies the presidential primary; indeed, it absolutely demonstrates its necessity.

Defeat Certain for Taft.
From the St. Paul Dispatch.
The rejection of Mr. Taft, where the people have had a chance to say how they feel about it, has been so emphatic that it is scarcely conceivable that the party leaders will so hard and nominate him even if they have deluged enough to do it. To do so would be to court defeat. There is no more grief for Mr. Taft in having to step aside now for the good of his party than there would be in carrying his flag to defeat in November, and it must be apparent that it must be one or the other.

The Restless Man

By WALT MASO.

I'm truly sorry for the gent, who, when the tollsome day is spent, won't by his fireless finger, who can't serenely sit and read "Robinson," "Money Moon" or "Queed," or "other most amusing." The fireless pleasures he will dodge; he says: "I have to go to lodge as outside guard, dear Salie; tomorrow night I have to go to act as usher at a show, next night I tend a rally." His patient wife just heaves a sigh and wipes the tears from her eyes, and and discontented, she murmurs now and then: "I wish that husbands and that kind of fish had never been invented! I used to let my fancies roam, and pictured such a happy home, with evenings long and cheery; alas! my husband's brains turn sour if he must stay here an hour—it surely makes me weary!" For pleasant evenings by your side perhaps the girl you made your bride is yearning, too, and pining? Disgusted with her Mooted Graces, it will not seem so passing strange if she goes and livens? Meeting that many of the dames who play the frantic suffrage games are there by husbands driven, who, when they toddle home at all, go much like Dobbin to his stall, to eat the grub that's given.

CENTERSHOTS

By ED HOWE

Can't you get along better with those you habitually wrangle with? Ever try?

An Idealist can fool himself in exactly the same way a hundred times.

We are all in favor of reform; why are we unable to put it into effect?

In politics, a thing that should be done promptly, is placed on the table, or ruled out of order, or referred to a committee.

If Abe Lincoln had the right to become the greatest statesman of his time, did John D. Rockefeller the right to become the greatest financier of his time?

It may be all right to recall the judges, but give us a chance, also, at the vicious clients and lawyers who bring unjust suits which result in costs to the public and annoyance to busy men—summoned as jurors.

You can pleasantly speculate and plan for tomorrow; but in practice, tomorrow will turn out very much like today.

I can get along with nearly any man until he begins telling that he doesn't care for himself; that it is the general good he is seeking.

With many people opportunity means no more than a chance to earn two dollars a day, providing they work hard.

A good many of us don't know much; that's another trouble.

THE DAILY CHIT CHAT

By RUTH CAMERON

We were talking about the boy scout movement the other day, and three of us had most enthusiastic tales to tell of the improvement it had worked in some of the youngsters of our acquaintance. Said the fourth member of the group, "Yes, it is a good enough scheme, but—", and, of course, the "but" consisted of a discourse on the weaknesses and evils which she saw in this great organization of American boys' energy. And of course, she pointed these things out with an air of pride and conscious virtue, and she was not correcting our foolish and mistaken enthusiasm? Was she not opening our eyes to the real truth?

There is a certain class of people in this world who ought to be called the "but" folks, because, like this woman, they are always seeing "buts." Whenever you appeal to them to admire any person or any thing, they are sure to qualify whatever praise they may be obliged to give by a "but."

It is really remarkable how keen these people are in discovering such defects. They show in this one direction a cleverness and an insight which they do not seem to display in any other relation of their lives. Suppose there is some organization for doing good in which you have taken great interest, and you are asked to help it. You are naturally fine and altruistic. If you chance to speak enthusiastically about it to any member of this class, he will be sure to tell you how some one is getting a graft out of the society's resources, and some one else is in it just for advertising, and how he heard that two or three people who had appealed to the society couldn't get any satisfaction at all. Now you may not believe all he says, but in spite of yourself, your former confidence is shaken. Hereafter, you cannot back of this organization without recalling what he said and wondering how much, if any of it, was true.

Suppose you admire some person with an admiration as wholesome as it is wholesome. You are interested in all this ideal does; you take a vicarious pleasure in his successes, and a vicarious pride in his good deeds; and you are stimulated in your own resolutions to be worth while by his worthwhileness. You happen to mention your admiration to one of these "but" folks, and he, or she for women belong to this class as largely as men—says, "Yes, he is a brilliant man, but I know some people who know him, and they say he has the most horrible table manners that ever were. And the most dreadful taste in clothes. They really hate to be seen on the street with him, he is so eccentric." It seems as if it really hurts this kind of people to see others enthusiastic. Admiration to them seems a weakness. In reality it is the most wholesome thing in the world. The more hearty admirations a man has the more he is apt to be worth to himself and to others. "The true value of souls," says Pascal, "is in proportion to what they can admire." Surely this is a suggestive thought for those people who think they prove their sagacity and superiority by heartily admiring little or nothing themselves, and trying to taint other people's admirations with their eternal "buts."

Literary Notes

Topics closely associated with human interests and human welfare characterize the May number of Popular Mechanics Magazine. To the people as a nation Rear Admiral Robert E. Peary's article on "What the World Gains by the Discovery of the Pole." makes a strong appeal. The discoverer of the North pole declares that the United States should grasp its opportunity in the Antarctic by establishing there a station for the purpose of continuous magnetic, meteorological, astronomical and other scientific observations by a small party of experts. The article is profusely illustrated and gives a clear idea of the relative positions of the several Antarctic expeditions in the field at the time Amundsen attained the South pole.

The city man longing for release from monotonous indoor life, but wary of the risks involved in a change of occupation, will take great interest in Gardner Mack's article on "The Hope in the Hoe." Problems, difficulties and disappointments to be set in the change from city to farm life, by the average man, are impartially described, while the benefits and returns are shown to be the result of hard work and the "soil instinct." Many illustrations accompany the article.

A sharper note in the current political cartoons is evident from the April number of the new magazine "Cartoons," the advance of the presidential campaign being the cause, but this has also resulted in wittier and keener ideas. Politics, however, is only a part of the number and no more amusing contribution than the other subjects covered in these reproductions from hundreds of papers here and abroad. Portraits with biographical sketches and typical cartoons of Boardman Robinson of the New York Tribune and Robert Minor of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, are in this number.

Probably the most important article in the May American Magazine is a complete and dispassionate account of the great strike at Lawrence written by Jay S. Lawrence, editor. Another important contribution is a statement of the relations between Taft and Roosevelt contributed by William Allen White, under the title, "Should Old Acquaintance Be Forgotten?" Other articles are: "Frank Plays That Have Decided Baseball Championships," by Hugh S. Fullerton; "The New Stagecraft," by Walter Prichard Eaton; "La Follette's Autobiography," and "The Irresponsible Woman and the Friendless Child," by M. T. Farrell.

Notable among the pieces of short fiction in the number are: "Bringing the Years," by Kathleen Norris, author of "Mother," "His Upward Step," by Marion Hill, and "The Man Who Knew Life," by Philip Curtis. In the "Interesting People" department there are two unusual short articles, one about N. C. Hanks, a slightly armless lecturer who made a great success in the world after one of the most horrible catastrophes that ever happened to a man. There is also an account of James A. Purkin, the most famous office boy in the world, in the office of a great Chicago daily. He has been for years the universal encyclopedia, directory and autocrat. The story of Jimmy Purkin is good, amusing reading.

Wedding Ring

(Copyright 1912, by Laura J. Libbey.)

It is no wonder that the world reverences the golden symbol—the wedding ring. It stands for the joining of two hearts in the sweet and tender bonds of matrimony. It is natural for young girls to dream of having one some day. The matron regards it as a precious treasure.

There are no more solemn and beautiful words in the marriage ceremony than "With this ring I thee wed." Our article has to do with the following complaint set forth in a letter: "I am from the dear old fatherland and I look with wonder upon the dear old Americans—their ways are so different from ours. I won't say that 'inter den lindens the young fellows and girls do not care about each other, but we don't get fooled, as your Americans do. We know we're not getting a married man on the string, because it is the custom of the best of Germans over there, when wed, to wear it as well as the wife, a wedding ring. This tells the frauleins that he is no longer in the market. Why don't your married men in America wear wedding rings? There are lots of other things I can tell you. I'll see first if you will print this. Really, this is no light matter. GRACIEHEN."

This query is not exactly new. It was suggested in this column several months ago, that there ought to be some symbol that those who might read, whether a man had been wedded or was still fancy free accordingly. In regard to the ring, there are a few reasonable objections to it on some men's part. Even putting aside some men's natural antipathy toward jewelry, a ring of any kind might interfere with their daily labors. It would not stand a strain of unusual hard usage. We have all heard the superstitious traditions that the ancient belief was that diamonds were sure to follow the breaking of a wedding ring. So much of this happened that men refused to put on a wedding ring, let alone to wear one. I have read hundreds of amusing anecdotes upon this subject.

Graciehen must not flit, but be introduced to some nice young man whom the person who introduced her can vouch for as being unmarried. The idea of a married man palming himself off as a single person is the exception and not the rule. Graciehen should be careful about showing preference to any man until she has reason to believe that he admires her. Deciding about the wedding ring can come later.

A block further on he asked me to wait while he went in a store and purchased a clean collar, and again I waited. Should I have done so? Do you think it was nicer of him to want to look clean, or would you consider it an affront to ask I like him right well and he has been nice to me, but I could like to know if you have met the fellow only five times I think you are unwise to become engaged to him. Better be a little bit more sure of the fellow before you make up your mind to marry him. Marriage is a life sentence. One should be careful in picking out one's fellow."

Jones, thinking that Brown has played a trick on him by substituting a gift for the fan goes to Brown's office and beats him up in return. Brown goes home to recuperate, and his wife receives him with joy, telling him that hereafter he will let affairs alone. When he explains, she is infuriated at the Joneses. Jones goes home and tells his wife that he beat up Brown for the trick. She will not believe until she sees Brown so they repair to Brown's home. When the family meet there is a tornado of argument and Brown gives Jones the pink whereat the two men repair to the sidewalk with their backs to the women and drink a toast. ## Colorado City DEPARTMENT CHANGE IN GOVERNMENT COLORADO CITY IS LIKELY Circulate Petitions Today for Charter Election—Some Advocate Annexation to Colorado Springs.

A meeting was held last night in Mack's hall to take the first steps to secure a commission form of government for Colorado City. After a debate on the merits of the charters of Colorado Springs, Grand Junction and other cities a resolution was passed authorizing the circulation of petitions which will be presented to the city council calling for a charter election.

James I. Lacey was elected temporary chairman with A. D. Seel as secretary and T. W. Dustin, attorney. Two voters from each ward will be appointed to circulate the petitions beginning today and it is thought that the required 15 per cent of the voters can be secured in a few hours. It is intended to get as many as possible to sign the petition and those present last night agreed that 600 of the 1500 voters of Colorado City can be secured.

The sentiment of many of the voters is strongly in favor of the charter election, and the movement has been started with the intention of bringing it to an issue as quickly as possible. Little opposition to an election is expected, as a change in the present government is admittedly needed. Many declare that a charter is the only thing that will prevent Colorado City from applying for annexation to Colorado Springs, and some voters even advocate annexation.

According to the present plan the charter would be absolutely non-partisan, and would not affect the "wet and dry" question, which is still in the courts.

The Procedure.

The procedure is about the same as that taken in the charter election in Colorado Springs. After the petitions are presented to the council it must call an election in not less than 10 or more than 60 days, when 25 delegates will be elected to a charter convention to draw up a charter under ton laws of the state. This charter must be voted on at a special election. The council has no alternative in the matter if the petitions are signed by at least 15 per cent of the voters.

It is generally agreed that a charter form of government would save the city at least $1,800 a year. The proposition is to have three commissioners who will give all of their time to the city government, each of whom will have charge of one of the departments of the city, and a chief of police.

The movement has grown out of the constant turmoil in the present city council, which has caused many citizens to become disgusted. There has been a constant fight between the mayor and his "dry" councilmen on one side, and the "wet" members on the other, causing many to feel that the better interests of the town are being endangered. This feeling has grown to such an extent that a change in

DEADLOCK IN SCHOOL BOARD SEEMS CERTAIN

Unless something unforeseen happens in a very short time the Colorado City school board will find itself deadlocked. And it will be in this predicament all because the last state legislature saw fit to pass a new law governing the election of school district directors and because the present board is composed of two factions, each bitterly opposed to the other.

Under the new law school elections are held every two years at which time two directors are chosen for a period of six years. Three being only five directors on the board, only one term expires this year and only one man is elected every sixth year, or every third election.

Under the old law elections were held every year and one director was chosen at each election for a period of five years.

In Colorado City the term of J. R. Thresher will expire next month, and the board does not know just what to do since there is to be no school election this year under the new law. The state superintendent has ruled that in such cases an appointment must be made. Members of the board say the director whose term expires this year should hold over until next year. It seems though that the decision of the state superintendent will be final.

YOUNG MOTHERS

No young woman, in the joy of coming motherhood, should neglect to prepare her system for the physical ordeal she is to undergo. The health of both herself and the coming child depends largely upon the care she bestows upon herself during the waiting months. Mother's Friend prepares the expectant mother's system for the coming event, and its use makes her comfortable during all the term. It works with and for nature, and by gradually expanding all tissues, muscles and tendons, involved, and keeping the breasts in good condition, brings the woman to the crisis in splendid physical condition. The baby, too, is more apt to be perfect and strong where the mother has thus prepared herself for nature's supreme function. No better advice could be given a young expectant mother than that she use Mother's Friend; it is a medicine that has proven its value in thousands of cases. Mother's Friend is sold at drug stores. Write for free book for expectant mothers which contains much valuable information, and many suggestions of a helpful nature.

At present there are two factions on the Colorado City board. Thresher makes the third member of one faction the one which has been ruling this year. It is the faction which cut the teachers' salaries 30 per cent and aspersed with the position of superintendent of schools, making a teacher of mathematics in the high school, the principal of the high school and the superintendent of schools at the same time asking him to continue his position of teacher, all at a salary $700 less than the superintendent alone had been receiving.

If the state superintendent's ruling is taken as the law, the Colorado City school board will have only four directors, since it seems certain that neither faction will agree to the appointment of the other, so bitter is the fight. And the question now arises as to whether the board will be allowed to continue with only four directors, and if so can it accomplish anything—can it pass upon anything?

Educators in Colorado City and the Pikes Peak region are taking an active interest in the outcome.
